MVCTC Students Attend Construction Career Day

Hamilton, Ohio – Miami Valley Career Technology Center (MVCTC) building trades students attended the Construction Career Day on September 18, 2013, at Butler County Fairgrounds.

According to their website, “The purpose of the event is to introduce high school students to the numerous and diverse career opportunities with unlimited potential for advancement offered by the construction industry.”

MVCTC instructors Greg Bauer, Robert Ewry, Ron Kauffman, Kelly Kramer, John Leiter, and Michael Routzohn took MVCTC students from Construction Carpentry, Electrical Trades, Heating, Ventilation and Air Conditioning, Heavy Equipment Operator, and Masonry to this year’s event.

Mr. Kramer, MVCTC Construction Carpentry instructor, said, “This is a great opportunity for our student to see first hand some of the new tools and products in the business. Also, they get the opportunity to meet employers in the industry for all over Southwest Ohio.”
